YOU MADE SAUL'S DAYS BETTER AT SCHOOL

Saul's teacher referred him to Communities in Schools of Mid-America (now SparkWheel), our Family Success partners, for help addressing his academic, attendance and behavior struggles. The Student Support Coordinator meet with Saul on-to-one to get to know him and assess his needs. The assessment revealed several concerns, including poor sleep habits and bullying. Saul said he didn't care about school and didn't feel like doing his work. The coordinator set up a meeting with Saul and his mother. Together they created morning routines to help Saul get more sleep and get to school on time. They also gave Saul hygiene products and went over how to use them. Saul joined their focus group and made new friends. It didn't take long for the progress to show in his grades and attendance. Now Saul has no trouble with school work and enjoys school.
